■ If you're into new technology and great deals, there was plenty to smile about in the PDC Exhibit Hall on Thursday. Glistening new products and show specials were everywhere.

In the DENTSPLY Canada booth (No. 643), you can try out the new Midwest E Electric Handpiece – and also receive a free show-special gift.

Isolite Systems, in booth No. 1309, is showing off its Isolation Mouthpieces, now available in six sizes.

The new, towering National Dental Inc. booth (No. 1229) has the LightWalker ErYAG laser on display, one of its many high-tech offerings.

Tonight: Comedy with Dave Hemstad

In PDC tradition, the smiles keep coming

■ Join your friends and colleagues for some pizza and a beverage before sitting down for an hour of comedy at the PDC.

Following the meeting's long-standing tradition of highlighting the best in Canadian comedy, on the agenda for tonight is Dave Hemstad.

A three-time Canadian Comedy Award nominee, Hemstad made his national television debut on CBC at

Here at the PDC

Friday Comedy Night, featuring Dave Hemstad, is scheduled for tonight from 6:30–8 p.m. in Ballroom A, Vancouver Convention Centre. If you didn't buy a $25 ticket when you registered, you can check on availability at the registration desk today. The ticket price includes pizza and a beverage.

the Halifax Comedy Festival in 2002.

Since that performance, Hemstad has been on stage in every province and territory in Canada and is a regular guest on "The Debaters" on CBC.

The popular comedian recently filmed his own "Comedy Now" special for CTV's Comedy Network and was featured at a gala performance at the highly popular "Just for Laughs Festival" in Montreal.

Hemstad is considered by many critics to be one of the top comedians in the country, so tonight's event promises to be a fun occasion.

Tickets should still be available today at the registration desk. The cost is $25 plus GST.

Live Dentistry Stage features three more sessions in Exhibit Hall today

■ As usual at the PDC, it was standing-room only at the Live Dentistry Stage in the Exhibit Hall yesterday.

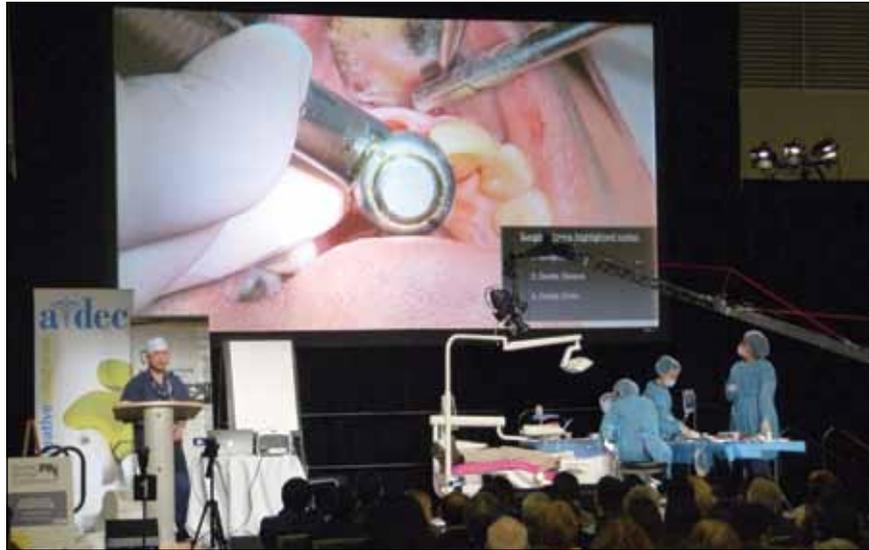

One procedure was on the schedule Thursday. And three more on the agenda for today.

First up today, at 8:30 a.m., Peter Walford, DDS, will present “Multi-surface Composite Restorations – A New Matrix and Other Key Success Determinants.”

Next, at 11:30 a.m., Elliott Mechanic, DDS, will present “The Single Crown Simplified,” co-sponsored by the Canadian Academy for Esthetic Dentistry.

And closing the stage this year, at 2:30 p.m., Glenn van As, DMD, will present “Lasers and Dental Implants,” co-sponsored by Hiossen Implant Canada Inc.

The Live Dentistry Stage is sponsored by A-dec and Sinclair Dental.

• On the Live Dentistry Stage on Thursday in the Exhibit Hall, Mark Kwon, DMD, FICOI, and Bernard Jin, DMD, performed an ‘Immediate Anterior Implant Solution Using Total Digital Technology,’ co-sponsored by Hiossen Implant Canada Inc. More live dentistry is on the schedule today.

• Attendees stream into the Exhibit Hall on Thursday to enjoy lunch, watch the Live Dentistry Stage session and check out the dental industry’s latest products and services.

Corps. booth (No. 1304) to get a hands-on look at the EyeSpecial C-II, the latest configuration of the only smart digital camera designed exclusively for dentistry.

The Orascoptic booth (KaVo Kerr Group, No. 464) was busy throughout the day Thursday, with many dentists and hygienists trying out the latest loupes, lights and telescopes, including the EyeZoom, with adjustable magnification, and the RDH Elite, designed specifically for dental hygienists.

In the DiaDent booth (No. 1318), you can take advantage of a show-special two-for-the-price-of-one offer on the D-Lux cordless LED curing light. Also on display are the Dia-Pen and Dia-Gun root-canal obturating system.

The NSK booth (No. 207) has all sorts of handpieces on display, including two of the newest offerings, the Ti-Max Z900L (“dentistry’s most powerful air-driven handpiece”) and the miniature-head Ti-MaxZ900L.

And nobody could miss the new Henry Schein booth (No. 709) making its debut at the PDC Exhibit Hall. The traffic-control theme included marked roadways, stop signs, street signs and direction signs to the company’s wide variety of services.

Biolase has a big presence at the conference, with its laser featured in six different educational sessions, including today’s closing session on the Live Dentistry Stage in the Exhibit Hall: “Lasers and Dental Implants,” presented by Glenn van As, DMD, and co-sponsored by Hiossen Implant Canada. You also can test out the laser in the Biolase booth (No. 219). There’s a good chance that expert laser clinician Dr. Brad Labrecque will be there to demonstrate the WaterLase iPlus 2.0 and answer any questions.

There’s just as much to be smiling about in every aisle today, with the Exhibit Hall open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

General dentist wanted

By Robert Selleck, Managing Editor

■ Looking for a change of scenery? How does the following description sound as a setting for your dental practice?

"This is a perfect location for lifestyle-oriented entrepreneurs. Our wide-open valley, fabulous climate, mountains, rivers, lakes, friendly and down-to-earth people and relaxed pace contribute to our unparalleled quality of life."

That's how the southeastern British Columbia community of Creston Valley describes itself in its effort to attract a general dentist to the region. Leading an earlier and successful physician-recruiting effort and now following up with the general-dentist recruiting effort is the community's "Health Working Group." Operating on a shoestring budget, the group is composed primarily of volunteers.

"We are a beautiful, small community," said Health Working Group member Marilyn States. "We're bettering our community by putting the word out that we are in need of a general dentist. We've been quite successful to date with physician recruitment, so now we're reaching out to the dental community."

• Creston Valley, British Columbia, wants a general dentist to set up a practice in the idyllic locale, shown here looking south across some of its vineyards and orchards. The town's population is more than 5,300; the entire valley's is about 16,000.

Toward that effort, the Creston Valley Health Working Group has a booth (No. 1453) in the Pacific Dental Conference Exhibit Hall.

"Last year, we attended PDC for the first time ever," States said. "We had some interest, but those individuals have not yet been able to relocate, and we are in great need. So funds were raised to send me to the meeting again this year to put the word out."

The original working group was created in 2006, made up of representatives from the town's existing physician practices, the British Columbia Interior Health Authority, the Town of Creston and the Regional District of Central Kootenay. The effort doesn't end with recruitment; it also addresses successful integration of newly arriving doctors. A number of permanent physicians have been recruited, thus prompting the recent decision to focus efforts on dental care.

If the Creston Valley opportunity doesn't resonate with you, another option is to check out the PDC Job Board in the Exhibit Hall Foyer — whether you're looking for a new opportunity or have one to offer.
