Record breaker

More than 14,000 here in Vancouver

By Sierra Rendon, today Staff

■ Pacific Dental Conference organizers are excited to reveal that this year's attendance broke its record, with more than 14,000 attendees in Vancouver for this week's meeting.

And it's no wonder when you consider the transformative education options, the ever-expanding Exhibit Hall, the fourth PDC Lab Expo and the Live Dentistry Stage on tap for attendees.

Lab Expo tomorrow

See the latest equipment, materials and methods

■ Tomorrow, Saturday, March 7, the PDC Lab Expo brings together dental technicians and dentists to spend time with a selection of top-tier companies to exchange information and forge new business relationships. The companies will be displaying the latest technologies, equipment, materials and methods.

All registered PDC attendees have access to PDC Lab Expo. That means everyone is welcome to attend the expo's sessions and exhibits. A lunch will be served to all attendees of the PDC and the PDC Lab Expo on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Ballroom A/B. You can learn more about PDC Lab Expo co-sponsor, the Dental Technicians Association of BC, by visiting www.dentaltechniciansofbc.com, calling (604) 789-4077 or emailing office@dentaltechniciansofbc.com.

More 'Live Dentistry' today

Three procedures on stage today in the Exhibit Hall

■ Three more demonstrations are scheduled today on the Live Dentistry Stage, which you can find on the west side of the Exhibit Hall. The stage is sponsored by A-dec and Sinclair, and some sessions have cosponsors.

Some demonstrations also may be eligible for C.E. credits, so be sure to have your badge scanned by a monitor near the stage.

- At 9 a.m., Mark Kwon, DMD, FICOI, and Bernard Jin, DMD, will present "Digitally Driven Implantology – Imagination Into Reality." They will demonstrate the use of guided surgery with a 3-D digital optical tracking system that can enhance accuracy, reliability and safety.

- At 11 a.m., David Clark, DDS, and Matt Irvine, DMD, will present "Treatment of the Dreaded Black Triangle with the Bioclear Method." Starting with surface preparation and continuing through to final polish, Clark and Irvine will demonstrate how to use pre-formed mylar matrices and heated, injection-molded composite resin to achieve predictable, conservative and enduringly stable restoration of excessive gingival embrasures.

- At 2 p.m., Jonathan Ng, DDS, Dip Pros., FRCD(C), will present "How to: Digital Impressions and Digital Smile Design – For Natural Teeth and Implants." From treatment planning to final delivery, Ng will provide a detailed how-to on mastering simple scanning and design techniques to take full advantage of the technology's high accuracy – as well as its ability to enhance patient understanding – to enable you to convert more of your consults into case acceptance.

The exhibit hall alone offers attendees an easy day's worth of exploring, and a host of activities and excitement, including:

- The Relaxation Station (Aisle 1300), where certified relaxation practitioners provide chair massages and reflexology.

- Arcade Games (Aisle 100), where you can take a break from learning and try your hand at retro arcade and pinball machines.

- Fun Photos (Aisle 1800), a photo booth where you can take a strip of photos with colleagues and family.

- OxygenBar (Aisle 1100), recharge your body with extra oxygen, which fans say may reduce stress, relax the body and increase energy.

In addition, you'll want to check out the aisles of new products, services and technology that can help your dental practice reach maximum potential.

With the coronavirus on the tip of so many tongues this week, one booth you'll definitely want to check out here at PDC is the SciCan booth, No. 1013.

Why? As Alex Earnshaw, Canadian sales manager, explains, the company's OPTIM 33TB is one of the fastest and most effective cleaners and disinfectants. "Come by the booth and you can see a demonstration in which this product completely removes all proteins and pathogens in one step," he said. The product is a safe and effective way to protect your patients, and yourself, while still being non-irritating and non-toxic (no skull and crossbones on the product label), Earnshaw said. (You might even want to get a container of OPTIM 33TB for your travels home!)

Another booth you'll want to visit is Dentsply Sirona, booth No. 430. It's safe to say that most everyone would like to earn rebates and rewards for the big purchases, which every dental practice must make. Dentsply Sirona has a new program, One DS, to help get the most out of your dental dollars; so stop by and ask about it.

Cashing in on show specials is another way to make the most of your money at a dental meeting. Here at PDC, companies including DiaDent, booth No. 1151, have new products and many "buy one, get one free" specials and more, only for attendees. Be sure to visit and learn about DiaTemp, DiaDuo, DiaEtch and other innovative new products by DiaDent.

■ Billed as more than a just a movie experience, the FlyOver Canada attraction is described by its creators as feeling more like a “ride” than a movie.

Indeed, your “chair” ends up being suspended, leaving your feet to dangle, as you’re enveloped by the giant 20-metre spherical screen for an eight-minute journey flying at low altitude across Canada, all while encountering special effects of wind, mist and scents.

The total experience lasts 30 minutes, comprising three 10-minute parts. Part 1 is the preshow “Uplift,” a fully immersive audio-visual installation designed to build anticipation prior to the main ride. Part 2 is the preboarding zone, with an entertaining preflight safety video. Part 3 is the feature ride where you soar across Canada feeling the grandeur of the nation and the exhilaration of flight.

The FlyOver Canada film was shot during the four seasons in all corners of Canada, including Niagara Falls, Ontario’s Muskokas and iceberg alley off the coast of Newfoundland, to name just a few of the locations. British Columbia is well-represented, too, with scenes from: Lake Magog in Mt. Assiniboine Provincial Park; helisking near Bella Coola; Blue Mountain Winery and vineyards near Okanagan Falls; Canada Place in Vancouver; a seaplane in the lower mainland; and First Nations water travel in Tofino.
