This America's ToothFairy program engages participants in addressing oral health issues unique to their geographical area by conducting research; teaching children, teens, parents and community leaders about the importance of oral health; and promoting positive oral health behaviors in their communities.

Through the program, scouts choose three oral-health related activities from a list of projects focused on changing perceptions, behaviors and the environment of children's oral health. Once the activities are completed and a brief report submitted, scouts receive their "Oral Health Action Hero" patch. Examples of activities include:

- Holding a Smile Drive to collect oral care products for children in need.
- Providing a dental health presentation at a local health fair.
- Visiting a dental office to learn how dentists and dental hygienists help patients maintain good oral health.

- Presenting dental health education lessons to younger scouts.

- Conducting healthy food or water demonstrations.

- Planting a smile garden.

"Our HERO Program is designed to engage youth in projects that build important leadership skills and encourage healthy behaviors within the community, which aligns nicely with the goals of scout troops across the nation," said Jill Malmgren, executive director of America's ToothFairy. "We are happy to call these scouts true Oral Health Action Heroes for protecting and saving the smiles of children in their communities."

Since the program began, America's ToothFairy has awarded more than 25,000 scout patches to scouts across the country. For more information, visit www.americastoothfairy.org/programs-resources/hero.

By Shofu Dental Staff

■ During the 2018 ADA Annual Meeting in Honolulu, Shofu Dental Corp., a leading manufacturer of award-winning dental materials and equipment, announced the introduction of Beautifil Flow Plus X, a new bioactive hybrid composite with patented nano-S-PRG filler particles.

The latest injectable hybrid restorative in the Beautifil product line, Beautifil Flow Plus X demonstrates excellent flexural and compressive strength, maintains exceptional color stability before and after curing, and contains bioactive Giomer technology — the release and recharge of six beneficial ions, according to the company. These bioactive ions inhibit plaque formation, minimize hypersensitivity, neutralize acid and release and recharge fluoride.

The newly developed patented nano S-PRG filler particles provide Beautifil Flow Plus X enhanced mechanical properties and effortless polishing that produce a sustainable high-gloss finish, Shofu asserts. The improved thin-walled needle tip dispenses the material without sticking or oozing at the end of delivery, making precise direct restorations an ease.

Intended for direct anterior and posterior restorations, Classes I-V, Beautifil Flow Plus X is available in two viscosities. With excellent shape retention, F00 (zero flow) accurately restores occlusal morphology without slumping, and F03 (low flow) thoroughly wets the cavity walls and has superior adaption, according to the company, which also asserts that Beautifil Flow Plus X has outstanding versatility with natural shade reproduction that can be achieved by the chameleon effect since the material blends seamlessly with the surrounding tissue.

Beautifil Flow Plus X is available in 2.2 g syringes in either F00 and F03 in the most common tooth shades, as well as in opaque dentin, enamel, bleach and effect shades. The shade selection allows for all esthetic requirements of direct restorations in both multi- and single-layer techniques.

Patient satisfaction is all that matters in today's dental market

By Anutra Medical Staff

■ Practioners look to provide their patients with the best possible care and attain the highest patient satisfaction possible.

The most feared part of oral care is the patients' perception that they will need to get an injection. This fear keeps patients away from the dentist or gives them a reason to switch offices/providers.

Most practioners think they give a painless injection, but the science does not support that claim. Local anesthetic is extremely acidic, and the high level of acidity causes the burn and pain that a patient feels. In the simplest terms, buffering neutralizes acids with bases.

The Anutra Local Anesthetic Delivery System solves buffering for dentistry.

With a simple twist of a knob on the dispenser, health-care professionals can precisely mix sodium bicarbonate and lidocaine, giving you a buffered solution that will reduce the anxiety in your patients.

As patients have more and more choices for their dental care, don't lose a single patient because they fear coming to you. Give them the experience that keeps them coming back for years.
